Tidel Sentinel Family Added to Loomis SafePoint Solution Suite

Carrollton, Texas - March 29, 2008 — Tidel Engineering, L.P., the world leader in Cash Management Systems and Robbery Prevention products, announced that Loomis has added the Sentinel family of products to its suite of SafePoint offerings in the U.S. market. The Loomis SafePoint program offers retailers a turnkey cash management solution, including the deployment of an intelligent safe solution, as well as secure cash transportation, processing and electronic reporting.

“We are pleased to welcome the Tidel Sentinel’s family of intelligent safes to our suite of SafePoint solutions. The safes offer an easy Windows-based connectivity to our web-based CPR reporting platform. When required, the Sentinel will also interface to the customers’ POS system at the transaction level to keep cash completely in balance at all times”, says Cal Murri, President Loomis US operations.

“As a result of the Sentinel’s ability to provide the POS user information on cash handling throughout the day, the Sentinel has proven to reduce cash shrinkage, as well as substantially shorten the end of the day closeouts for the store manager. This precious time can now be used by store managers to attend directly to the needs of customers instead of in the back office balancing the day’s cash totals”, says Ed Grondahl, EVP Sales and Marketing at Tidel.

“Tidel is proud that Loomis has selected the Sentinel family as an enhancement for its SafePoint offering. This is another major win for Tidel as it continues to grow its global presence and maintains its leadership position in Retail Cash Management solutions”, says Mark Levenick, Tidel’s President and CEO.
